

ago. The instalment houses are not dilatory in that regard.

McCullough did not know what the $1 a week was for. But he was afraid he would lose his job if the wage assignment was filed with his employers. He agreed to pay $1 a week to keep the matter quiet.

After he had paid about $12 he was given a "receipt in full." It is on file in the Legal Aid Society office, stamped under date of October 6, 1913, with the Herbert L. Joseph Co. rubber stamp imprint. The stamp is countersigned with a name that appears to be spelled "Vyitacil."

In spite of this final receipt, which was not destroyed, and in spite of his claim that he has not purchased anything from the Joseph Co. for four years, a wage assignment was filed against McCullough by the Joseph Co. with the Valvoline Co. a few days ago.

McCullough wen to the Legal Aid Society and told his story. A representative of the society called up the Valvoline Co., and urged them not to hold up McCullough's wages, as he did not believe Joseph had a valid claim.

The Valvoline Co. released McCullough's wages on hearing from the Legal Aid Society.

And now the Herbert L. Joseph Co. has sued the Valvoline Co. for $200 damages.

There are other cases in which the purchaser has received a raw deal, but none in which it appears that an attempt has been made to collect on the same debt three times.

INTERESTING LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Government will start after egg trust.

Gov. Dunne in Chicago to attend Finerty memorial meeting.

"Mysterious woman" visiting Henry Spencer.

Ernest DeKoven Leffingwell, University of Chicago student, believed to have died in dash to North Pole.

One hundred and thirty-five lives lost during hunting season which closed yesterday.

International Alliance of Billposters and Billers to hold annual convention at Briggs House tomorrow.

"Doc" Hanish, sun cult chief, granted until Friday to prepare arguments for new trial.

Three hundred took examination for policewomen today.

Mrs. Stanley Poswick, 23, 1814 String st., swallowed poison. May recover.

Two men held up K. E. Barton, cashier Messenger's lunch room, 517 S. State st., and got $40.

Health commissioner issued warning against typhoid fever.

Dr. John Harper, 3638 Forest av., negro, held up and robbed of $350 diamond ring and $10 scarfpin by two white men.

Ray Casazza, 1230 Clybourn av., shot in fight with two unidentified men.

Gale E. Jackson, 48, 1746 Wells st., found dead in gas-filled room.

Giovanni Baltheli, 21, 815 Fulton av., who was stabbed 21 times by Glacho Siaro in fight over girl, is dead.

Clarence Darrow will speak on present political activities before the members of Independent German American Woman's Club in the Red Room of the Hotel LaSalle Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 3.

Armed bandit tied and gagged F. O. Robbins, ticket agent, Lake Shore station, 100th st. and Irving av., and escaped with $700.

First of vote fraud trials begins today.

J. H. Gallagher, 54, chauffeur, 401 W. Oak st., marooned in lake. Taxi jumped embankment.

Geo. Piotrowski, 15, 2418 S. Whipple st., left home. Police searching.

Joseph Hodur, 22, 524 Armour av.; John Frey, 600 W. Madison, and Jos-